Recycle for Breast Cancer announces new program to benefit Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation

Donated empty toner and inkjet cartridges to help raise money for breast cancer research.

Every day millions of empty cartridges are thrown away and end up in our nation's landfills. The Recycle for Breast Cancer program collects these cartridges, prepares them for recycling while raising money to help find a cure. For every cartridge collected through this program a donation is made to the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

Program Manager, Larry Behrens, says "This program is an opportunity for anyone to support a great cause and help protect the environment at the same time. It has two great benefits - we are raising money to fight breast cancer while providing a much needed recycling service to the community."

How It Works - start collecting empty inkjet and toner cartridges. Call Recycle for Breast Cancer and they will send a FREE prepaid shipping label for you to send back your cartridges. There is no cost to you.
